CITY GOVERNMENT IS PROMISED COAL

Contractors Assure Commissioners There Will Be No Shortage in Schools.

Assurances that after tomorrow there will be no shortage in the coal supply for the public schools and District government buildings were received today by the Commissioners.

Representatives of the contractors called on M. C. Hargrove, purchasing officer, today with the information that seven carloads of coal consigned to the than 1,200 delegates are expected to District government are between Washington and Clifton Forge, part of which will arrive tomorrow.

Sunday School work from other parts about five tons of coal daily, had only of the country will attend the con-The District building, which uses The threatened closing of Washington school buildings was adverted by the arrival of fuel this afternon at the schools.

Some Have Reserve.

The schools that were open before this year had a reserve supply that would last from three to ten days, but the new schools faced a peculiar situa-

Heat must be supplied to the new buildings if they are to be occupied. This is because of the dampness that is attendant in any new building. Despite the optimistic attitude of Disrict officials, a contractor who supplies fuel to the schools stated that there is only enough coal in his yards to last the schools for twenty four hours. A reserve supply on bund at the dif-ferent school buildings will probably, if distributed among the schools, last for the greater part of a week.

Little Coal at Central.

It is stated that in the New Central scarcely enough coal to heat the building until this afternoon is on hand. Unless the seven carloads of coal that are now on the way here arrive in time for the coal to be delivered before Monday morning, the school cannot open for classes without endangering the health of the pupils.

Superintendent Ernest L. Thurston is making a consus of the school buildings to determine Just what amount of coal is available. He stated that the situation is rapidly becoming acute.

IF TEETH WERE FALSE COULD TRUTH SPEAK?

Hark to the Case of the Heckled Senator Jones.

DENVER, Oct. 27.—False teeth sometimes are false friends.
Senator Jones of Washington was talking for Charles E. Hughes at Casper. Wyo. He was interrupted by cries of Wilson men.
Senator Jones retorted on his hecklers. The contest kept up for several minutes. Finally the Senator started to human a strenuous sentence.
He never finished it. His false teeth flew out and bounced on the floor.
The crowd saw and laughed and the meeting broke up.

District Attorney Jöhn E. Laskey to-day filed a motion to dismiss a mandamus action brought against the Secretary of the Tiessury and Commissioner of Internal Revenue by George Ashley attacking the right of the Government to prohibit refilling of prescriptions containing narcotic flugs without new instruction from the physician.

The Government asks dismissal on the grounds that the case "involves the restraining of the assessment and collection of a tax and as such it cannot be maintained." and because "the petitioner seeks to control and interfere with the executive officers of the Government, in their performance of official districts wasted solely in their findgment and discretion."

Ashley asked the District Supreme Court to compel Secretary MeAdoa and Commissioner Osborn to withdraw the Treasury Department regulation
